Commemorative Coins of The Wonder in China History
 —Emperor Chin' s Terra-Cotta Warriors and Horses
 Issued by Democratic Republic of Congo

Emperor Chin Shihuang' s Terra-cotta warriors and horses were stumbled upon in 1974 when villagers sank a well 1.5km east of the Emperor Chin' s mausoleum. This discovery aroused much interest both at home and abroad, and was one of the most important discoveries in modern archeology.

The terra-cotta warriors and horses are arrayed according to the Qin dynasty battle formation, symbolizing the troops keeping vigil beside the mausoleum. The warriors, military discipline orderly, girded armor and held real bronze weapons in their hands; the warhorse plump is majestic, lifelike. At a glance, one can feel the armed force drum shakes and the warhorses neigh all the day, showing Emperor Chin Shihuang' s strong determination of wiping out the six states and unifying the whole country.

The terra-cotta warriors and horses is the treasure of fine art in the brilliant culture of ancient China as well as the human civilization.
